

Positive values indicate improved performance under masking.